King Sets Date of Session, Calls Provincial Conference; Says Cabinet Will Carry On

OTTAWA, June 21.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, announcing that the 20th Parliament will meet Aug. 23, early last night outlined the government's immediate post-election program and said the cabinet as organized at present will carry on for the time being.

At his post press conference since the general election June 11, Mr. King also made these announcements:

1. A Dominion-provincial conference will meet Aug. 6 for a preliminary session, with a final program to be made. The meeting would last about a week and then will adjourn indefinitely for study of proposed legislation.

2. The Prime Minister and Justice Minister St. Laurent will fly to San Francisco this week to sign the United Nations world security charter.

UNDER CANADA SEAL

3. In appointing himself and Mr. St. Laurent to plenipotentiaries to sign the United Nations Charter, the King, for the first time, signed the order under the Great Seal of Canada.

4. Hours of work for civil servants, increased by one hour daily in the past, have been reduced by a half-hour.

5. The Prime Minister hopes to confer with President Truman at San Francisco and visit him at Washington later.

6. Distinguished visitors to Canada expected during the summer, in addition to Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa, who may be here next week, include Viscount Cranborne, Foreign Minister in the British cabinet, and Prime Minister T. V. Soong of China.

7. Appointment of a new lieutenant-governor for Saskatchewan will be made in a few weeks.

8. "Persons both here and in the Old Country will be welcomed.

Nazi Munitions

Magnate Is Held

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
ESSEN, Germany, June 21.—(BUP)—Alfred Krupp, German munition magnate, was arrested and took the 37-year-old industrialist to a secret place of confinement.

"Everything is being handled on very high level," a high-ranking British officer said. "It is impossible to know where he has been taken or why. I think it would be a good guess that he might still be alive."

Krupp, head of Germany's most powerful munitions and armament trust, was the first Nazi industrialist to be arrested and was suspected as a possible war criminal.

Krupp and other German industrialists were arrested and removed from their firms. Representatives of the Krupp firm already have appealed to the military government for release so that he can resume production of peace time goods.

TALK WITH EISENHOWER

This is the fourth in a series of articles by Emil Ludwig, the famous historian and biographer, now in Europe to write his impressions of places, persons and events.—EDITOR.

PARIS, June 21.—The German headquarters which I saw in the first World War seemed to be staged for the opera—hundreds of guards, loud voices. It was all typically German. A man in civilian clothes, like myself, did not dare to broach.

By contrast, when I called on General Eisenhower, I found one silent soldier behind his desk. In the room there was also a earnest girl secretary. Through the open door to the small second room, I recognized the features of the general.

The most simple headquarters you can imagine. His desk was clean. On the wall was a picture of Roosevelt. Churchill, the general's own family.

In a corner were four flag-flaps. On the wall was a portrait of Roosevelt, the only man in his open-minded, simple, direct way, who reminded me of the late President Wilson.

Men who listed as independent who had been implicated with the Communists were C. G. Power (Quebec South), Béna Arsenault (Bonaventure), and W. H. Gatz (Gatineau).

STRAIGHT LIBERALS

Of the eight men originally planned to be independent Liberal four have since announced that they should be considered "straight Liberals."

On the other side, three have indicated that they expect to support the government. The four who have announced their stand are:

The only independent Conservative in the province, G. H. Heen (Argenteuil), said: "I am not now supporting the Tories. I am not unless some tremendous development but that does not mean that I am an apathetic."

Carpetbagger Force*Allies Flew Spies and Arms Into German-Held Territory

By HENRY P. JAMESON

LONDON, June 21.—(AP)—Hundreds of spies and thousands of tons of military supplies were dropped to underground units behind the German lines during the war by a special fleet of American bombers and transport planes flying secretly at night.

The way was opened to the United States by air force, which disclosed yesterday the spectacular operations which started six months ago after the invasion of France. The commando raids last one week before the final German surrender.

America's Navy, too, flew the RAF's 21 high-altitude night bombing attacks on targets in Germany.

Operations involving the parachuting of men and supplies over pinpoint targets in occupied countries, known as "carpetbagging," were to start this week.

BERCHTESGADEN LANDINGS

As late as April 26, a group of agents was dropped in the mountains of southern Germany around Berchtesgaden to observe enemy movement in the so-called "national redoubt" area and report back to London.

The operations that required landing in France were extremely hazardous, because the planes passed landing strips with flak shells used for masking improvised flare paths. Planes were without armor or gun armament and had to fly at low altitudes through German night fighter belts.

The trip such night was made by Col. Clifford J. Heflin, Fresno, Calif., commander of the original "Carpetbagger" group soon after the war began. He took four passengers to France.

On the return trip, he took off from the same port and carried two American airmen who had slipped through the German lines, a Canadian gunner, a British gunner, a French girl and a Frenchman who were to attend school.

SOME CASUALTIES

The trip requiring great skill in flying and navigation were not carried out without loss but the number of casualties has not been disclosed.

Col. Robert W. Fish, San Antonio, Tex., succeeded Heflin as commander of the "Carpetbaggers."

Canada's Forests

Canada's forests cover an area of 1,230,000 square miles or more than one-third of the total land area of the Dominion.

Plan to Kill Children
Nazi Murder Trick Bared

By RICHARD ROWLAND

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, June 21.—(Reuters)—A German trick to kill or maim children—wooden clubs loaded with explosive—has been discovered by the Canadian Army research section.

A pair of these clubs were shown to me today. They looked like ordinary children's clubs, much in demand in a country where many parents have no access at all to medical services.

Another German trick the Canadians have found is the "Nazi coaches"—perfectly normal at first sight but powerful enough to blow off a man's head. In the shoulders are four holes filled with explosive. When this is lifted off the rail it will curve wide open and blow off the head.

Then there were explosive fountain pens, which burst when the filling lever was moved, explosive hinges and bolts, and poison lipsticks.

for continuation of government and the world like the present government-general, the Earl of Athlone, to carry on.

HOUSE STANDING DOWN

Shortly before King called the prorogation, he left his office in the east block of the parliament buildings, with about 20 reporters after him. It was difficult to tell if Liberal strength in the new parliament had been reduced to 118 seats against 66 for the Conservatives and 38 CCF members.

The change was in Wellington North, where the returning officer announced that revised count had shown that the seat previously in the hands of the Conservatives had been won by the Progressive Conservative candidate, Lewis McNamara, who held a plurality of 15 votes.

Previously, the seat had been credited to Mr. King, who signed the warrant of election. Lord Minto, King, the returning officer announced that revised count had shown that the seat previously in the hands of the Conservatives had been won by the Progressive Conservative candidate, Lewis McNamara, who held a plurality of 15 votes.

It was probable Field Marshal

Montgomery would be sent to San Francisco for a few days after the conference and then come to Canada.

"He could not be more welcome," said Mr. King. "He is one of the great men of the world and I am sure he will receive a warm welcome here."

There was no information about the appointment of an administrator when Lieutenant-Governor died and the King could not be approached or given an acclamation.

"That is something for others to say," replied Mr. King, when he was asked what he would do on when he would seal off sealing his defeat in Prince Albert constituency.

CHARTER DOCUMENTS

The documents to be signed were the charter of the world security organization to be called "The Union of Nations," the permanent court of international justice and a resolution constituting an intergovernmental commission to bring the League of Nations into existence.

Lord Cranborne hoped to spend a few days in Canada on his way back to Britain from San Francisco, where he had been invited to come to Canada. It was possible other delegates at San Francisco would come here at the conference.

EARLIEST DATE SET

Mr. King said Aug. 23 was the earliest date he could set when he believed his new parliament could be called. He believed a by-election could be held in a space of four weeks, including time available to be in the house at the opening of the House of Commons.

Mr. King said Aug. 23 was the earliest date he could set when he believed his new parliament could be called. He believed a by-election could be held in a space of four weeks, including time available to be in the house at the opening of the House of Commons.

With the Dominion-Provincial conference starts on Aug. 6, the Dominion intended to make certain proposals and it would be open to the provinces to make proposals of their own.

Socialism Plan Creates Furore British Press

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
LONDON, June 21—(CP)— Professor Harold Laski, a former lecturer at McGill University, Montreal, yesterday became the central figure in Conservative Labor jockeying for votes in the British general election campaign.

The Daily Express and the Daily Telegraph, the staunchest supports of Prime Minister Churchill, and Conservative party and British morning newspapers, gave top frontage space to a report that Prof. Laski, a member of the Labor party, advocated use of violence if necessary to achieve a socialist state.

Prof. Laski denied the story and the Daily Herald and the Mirror, which support the Labor party, gave similar prominence to the report.
And to the professor's statement he is planning liberal actions against the mass strike movement, including the charge to the Nottingham Guardian and against the Guardian which supported the Labor party.

BECOMES SENSATION

This latest sensation in the campaign—the second involving Prof.
Laski within a week—put into the hands of the Labor party and Bertrand Brook, Canadian-born peer, who up to now had a prominent place as whipping boy for the Labor party, a sharp spur.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express used a six-column fire headline: "Socialism—Even if Maneuvres over the election are decided by a letter from H. C. C.
Carton." The Express, as published in London, said:

The letter said Prof. Laski, when a member of his audience at a political meeting last night, had invited him to speak from the platform, replied: "If we cannot get the reforms we desire we shall not hesitate to use violence, even if means revolution."

Babe Zaharias Carried to 20th In Second Round

INDIANAPOLIS, June 21—(AP)— One co-medalist stumbled and the other, defending champion Babe Didrikson Zaharias, of Los Angeles, had to turn on extra hole pressure in the second round of the annual 1937 U.S. Women's Open western open golf tournament at Highland Country Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Zaharias, who had come from lightly-reckoned Jean Hopkins of Cleveland, before winning 1 up in the first round, had a skirmish of yesterday's eight-match session.

The other co-medalist, Louise Sugars of Atlanta, Ga., succeeded to the long-driving Dorothy German of Indianapolis, 1944 runner-up, 6 and 5.

Babe Didrikson's quarter final opponent, Mrs. Helen Gandy, of Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., who had the day's most decisive victory, a 6 and 5 conquest of Alice ONeal of Fort Worth.

Only one of the two professional strikers had to seek round robin battle. Dick of Chicago had to struggle for a 2 and 1 triumph over Betty Mims, while Helen Miller of San Antonio, who recently turned pro, bowed to youthful Carol (Barbie) Frees of Portland, Ore., 1 up in 18 holes.

Roosevelt Planned
His Own Tombstone

NEW YORK, June 20—(AP)—A simple white tombstone of imperial marble, cut to accommodate details by hand, Franklin D.
Roosevelt in his own handwriting, will be placed at his grave in the Rose Hill Cemetery, New York, in a memorandum describing the stone, dated Dec. 26, 1937, was found among the papers of his office in the office of Basil O'Connor, his former law partner, said yesterday in releasing it.

Natching suits have been contributing to do not get wet during swimming—were coated with transparent plastic film.

McCoy Health Service

We like to think of the years when fifteen to thirty is the time of life when the body is at its healthiest and strongest. But there are the very years when the great danger comes to the appendix. The number of people with appendicitis disorder is highest in the United States, which has a much higher death rate from appendicitis than England. What is more, the death rate from this preventable disease continues to rise.

While one of the symptoms of appendicitis is a pain which is localized in the right side of the lower right hand region, which symptoms are made worse by eating, especially fried foods, the fundamental causes of appendicitis are incorrect diet and constipation. Inflammation of the colon or colitis, is built. Because of the fact that the tendency to appendicitis becomes necessary to cure the colitis and constipation.

From the onset of the acute attack, it is very important that all inflammation be relieved. This can be done by enemas, which should be used every two hours to cleanse the bowels. If the inflammation is continued, it may be advisable to substitute warm olive oil. Heat should be applied to the abdomen with hot water bottles, moist towels, or by immersion in the steep, deep tub.

The patient must be confined until the muscles relax. Do not use the heat over the appendix alone but apply it over the entire abdomen in order to bring about a wider distribution of blood.

Complaints of bed is imperative and the patient should not be given either food or liquid.

All questions regarding health and health care, from those which are so mild as to be unimportant to those which are very severe, should be directed to the doctor of the disease causes more pain than the chronic stage. One with appendicitis is accompanied by tenderness and discomfort in the WAR IN THE PACIFIC—The British Navy sprung a surprise when it sent a large number of carrier planes to bomb the once great Japanese naval base at Truk in Caroline Islands located on map. One hundred and twenty miles of Chinese coast north of Foochow are in Allied hands. Allied planes and surface and subsurface vessels probably are taking some supplies to the Chinese already through Chinese eastern ports. Tokyo reports that another Allied task force has been sighted off Marcus Island, which must be thousands miles to the north of Truk.

PAGE EIGHT Rehabilitation Plans Satisfy Canada Troops

LONDON, June 21.—(CP)—Canadian servicemen overseas appear "well satisfied" with rehabilitation legislation prepared for them, Alex Walker, president of the Canadian Legion, said yesterday.

He added, however, that as a result of his tour of Britain and the continent he would recommend even further benefits on his return to Canada.

Mr. Walker declined to specify what benefit he would recommend but said that the rehabilitation concept of widening the present monetary grants. The biggest worry for him was that the rehabilitation plan was for "those first two years" in civilian life when they will be busy picking up the threads of war-disrupted lives and waiting for heavy financial strain.

VISITED BELGIUM

Arriving here May 25, Mr. Walker visited Belgium and Holland as well as France.

Mr. Walker said all men naturally were anxious to return to Canada as soon as possible but he added recreation and educational aids set up for them were keeping them "quiet content."

He mentioned as one of his aims on returning to Canada would be to help the training Canadian are receiving overseas and to open workshops at home as the men are "really studying and working."

WA. JOINS ANDREWS

Andrews was interested mainly in getting a job and having a home in his return. Mr. Walker said, "All in the Canadian Legion would be 'spared' employment opportunities for our returning servicemen and women and secretaries for those who were still available as Canada was capable of supplying good jobs for all, he said.

The Legion's rehabilitation plan for them on their return, seemed "optimistic, cheerful and enthusiastic," Mr. Walker said.

He said the Legion would encourage occupations as soon as possible."

Doctor and Dentist Must Pay Judgment

OTTAWA, June 21.—(CP)—Suspension of calls-up under National Selective Service mobilization regulations does not mean that men can postpone from military training for employment in agriculture or industry, the Canadian Legion said yesterday. Both brothers, must divide between them the payment of damages for an act of negligence by Dr. MacNamara, director of the National Selective Service, and agreed to pay $2,000 each.

Pointing out the need for maintaining food production, Mr. MacNamara said instructions have been sent to local employment offices that any man who has been called up for agriculture or industry, is to be compulsorily retained for a tonal operation and removal of two of their teeth, a larger number of teeth, if needed.

Jap Disregard of Sanitation Creates Philippine Problem

Defeating the Japanese in the Philippines is just one problem facing the Allies. William Stevens, CP war correspondent assigned to the Pacific, describes the other—the effect of Japanese occupation of sanitary standards.—EDITOR.

By WILLIAM STEWART

MANILA, June 21.—(CP)—Utter Japanese disregard of elementary rules of sanitation during their occupation of the Philippines presented the liberating American forces with the major problem of restoring good health conditions among the Filipinos as well as protecting their own troops from disease.

In some areas it is estimated that Japanese laxity about the enforcement of sanitary discipline has thus been most marked progress in the Philippines 20 years.

Since the liberation, American units have been busy through the Philippines.

DEASE-RIDDEN

Typical of their work is an undertaking of the 8th U.S. Air Force Service Command in the little town of Sapangato, before the war a seat of 1,000 people. A Nazi had been the town's mayor.

Sapangato used to have neat streets and cobble streets, a good drainage system, a supply of pure water from wells and comparable living conditions. Most of the 100 Filipinos still residents were occupied at the nearby American airfield.

The town was twice burned out during the war, the first time when the Japanese invaded and the second time when the Americans landed at Lingayen.

Food supplies fed during the early invasion but returned later with families from other Japanese-occupied towns and villages. They had to live in mud huts in the wreckage of Sapangato.

Your Baby And Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Street

Many a mother seeing her own acts displayed in bold black and white must wonder how she could have been guilty of them. If she doesn't, others will, for mean and painful punishment of children always strikes a sharp note in those who see them.

Mrs. J. G. R. writes that mothers who treat their children cruelly let themselves out in the joy on the file.

"It is a paradox that children that if you concentrate too much on behavior you get worse behavior. You can't tell what they think is a 'good' child and see things with the child's eyes. Let them play with other children. Let them show them birds; take them on picnics; show them how the radio works. Let them go to school and learn the wonderful process of learning about the world. The happy or interesting or not the naughty, disbelieve me."

"Even during boring times, such as waiting in line at a store, the mother can interest the child by naming out colors in the store, reciting nursery rhymes, counting. A child who stands still gets tired and bored and tries to find something active to do. Then the mother calls him bad."

Mothers allow their children to do everything they can that is harmless—it's their way of learning. They let them have their way, pick out in delicate pastels and bright timely threads the brocade jacquard with sprigged flowers makes the bustle-back cocktail suit, right.

CHASING AROUND

My wife is pregnant for the first time at the age of forty (writes a doctor). I am told that it is a little strange, parties have dreamt of it before, but she didn't seem satisfied as she thought she should be bigger now and she imagined the baby didn't move enough. So I took her to another doctor for a second check. He examined her and said everything was normal so far as her heart and lungs were concerned, but that she had high blood pressure and a trace of albumen in urine. He said it was all right, but she should eat more eggs. I asked him if he had caused his high blood pressure, and he answered that it was a common but not a serious condition. He advised us over on the community but I'd hate to have any member of my family under his care.

The good reason why one with high blood pressure and albumen in urine has a tendency to chronic Bright's disease (chronic Bright's disease) should not eat a reasonable amount of meat, fish, fowl, eggs, cheese, milk, fish, etc., the only ones that are particularly "red" or dark meat (lean meat is in some way unsuitable for the body). The diet should be over on the community but I'd hate to have any member of my family under his care.

Although the correspondent does not mention it, the fact that his wife is forty probably worries her more. That's a favorite theme with old women, especially with the old women of the neighborhood anyway. The "Expectant Blues" seems to be a common ailment for which there is no medical foundation.

First Husband Returns But Wife Is Re-Married

"Widow" Who Remarried Should Consult Lawyer to Determine Legal Status; She Should Also Prove That She Was Secretly Married

DEAR MISS DIX: Four years ago when I was in school I married a boy of a well-to-do family. We told no one about our secret marriage. We were afraid his family would have it annulled. He was shipped overseas and we were separated him, easily, for months nothing at all, until one day I read in the paper that he had been killed in action.

Believing him dead, I married a very nice man and we expect a happy life together. Now I am told that my first husband is not dead, but a prisoner of war who has been liberated and is now home again. How can I prove my first marriage, not even my present husband?

At this time I am very nervous and upset. I don't know what to do, or where to turn. The only advice I can give you is to take my own life, so my innocent child will not be brought up without a parent. But I am afraid he sleeps most of the day and spends his nights here. What can I do?

ANSWER: First of all I would like to assure you that you are not alone in this. Many women have been married twice, and many more are in the same position.

The next thing for you to do is to try to straighten out your tangled acts. Begin by not telling your husband about your secret marriage.

Expectant fathers who feel at all different about this business may get off to a good start by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope for "Preparing for Maternity," Copyright 1945, John E. Dilley Co.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, may be sent to Dr. William Brady, 265 El Camino South, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Then I think you should consult a lawyer to find out your legal rights. If you are married, your marriage is valid or not, regardless of whether it was contracted while your first husband was still alive, or whether he believed him to be dead.

The industries members claim that when they encourage the best in being one by supporting him or her—for there are plenty of parasites also—in illness.

ANSWER: Yes. Kick back and let the door on him and tell him that you are not handling out any more cards to lay claim to you. He has a comfortable place to sleep and three square meals a day, he will never go to work, but you will be better off.

When you come to yourself, then you will be a better person.

ANSWER: You met Sylvia in my column? You know, Sylvia is the girl who always makes the wrong play according to rule, but it always ends well.

The bidding was a little optimistic on today's hand, but South figured he needed a slam to break even for the rubber. Well, he won

The opening club lead with the ace, took two rounds of diamonds which picked up the trump and then cashed his ace of spades. The four clubs he led were, of course, the natural thing to do for West to split the honors. Otherwise, he would have led the ten spot and discarded the losing five clubs on the good king of clubs.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, June 21.—(CP)—A part of the market strength displayed by some of the stocks of the Western Power Electric issues and the Anglo-Canadian Steel Company in the Toronto Exchange today and closing prices thereon were due to the fact that they were little better than a million shares.

By James Richardson & Sons
